Cardinal Sarto, Patriach of Venice, was yesterday selected by the conclave as the successor of Pope Leo XIII.

The Hon. Tom Johnson is said to possess Senatorial aspirations. If Mark Hanna doesn't keep an eye on him, Tom will have his scalp before he is aware of it.

Two buyers on the New Orleans cotton exchange a few days ago offered to take "all the cotton in the world at 15 cents a pound." This offer of course created excitement, but it failed to bring forth "takers."

The prospects are bright for an unusually large corn crop in North Carolina this year, but according to reports from various quarters, there will be a shortage on home-raised meat, cholera having killed hogs by the hundreds in some sections of the State.

Cow-hiding a man proves rather an expensive luxury sometimes. Judge Neal on Friday at Winston-Salem court imposed a fine of $400 and costs upon N. Glenn Williams for applying a cow-hide on District Attorney A. E. Holton some months ago. The costs in the case aggregated $130.

The Postal scandal grows. Seven indictments, involving nine person, have been returned by the Federal grand jury at Washington for conspiracy, and as the jury is still in session, other indictments are expected to follow. Machen, the ex-Superintendent of Free Delivery, is in the list. Do you wonder at Mr. Payne's health failing him?

Capt. J. R. Franklin, representative of a large wool firm in Boston, estimates that the total wool clip in Texas this season will reach in the neighborhood of 10,000,000 pounds. It is said that there is in the neighborhood of 900,000 pounds of wool in the warehouse in San Angels, Texas, being held by the growers expecting to get an advance over the present prices. Great is Texas in raising sheep and cotton.

The heirs of E. B. Gonzales, at East Orange, N. J., received a check for $30 from a conscience-stricken woman a few days ago, who says she has not enjoyed a night of sound sleep since she ran up the bill for groceries 27 years ago with Mr. Gonzales, who has since died. The bill haunted the woman, so the other day she paid the money over to the heirs of Mr. Gonzales. A receipt was given and it is said that the old woman felt so good over settling the bill she slept soundly till 10 o'clock next day.

FAMILIAR FIGURES IN COURT.

Six Sent to Roads by Mayor Springer. Appeals to Higher Authority.

Ella Henry, Kate Fisher and Mamie Garfield, a trio of colored denizens, were arraigned in the Mayor's court yesterday and tried for disorderly conduct in the vicinity of Second and Market streets. They were each fined $10 and costs, but the Henry woman, through her counsel, Brooke G. Emple and Herbert McClammy, Esqs., appealed to the Superior Court and gave bond in the sum of $25.

Lebby Lane, Dick Davis and Scipio Ashe, habitual offenders, were arraigned for drunkenness and disorderly conduct and were each sent to the roads for 30 days. Jim Spencer, Anderson Evans and Jno. Teachey, tried the day before, defaulted in payment of fines and have also gone to the roads.

GOVERNMENT FISH HATCHERY.

Chamber of Commerce Endeavoring to Secure Location of One Near Here.

The Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce met in regular monthly session yesterday afternoon, but transacted very little business of public interest. The only action of importance was the appointment of a committee composed of Messrs. Thomas F. Bagley (chairman), L. B. Rogers and W. B. Cooper to ascertain what inducement can be offered the U. S. Government to establish a fish hatchery in or near Wilmington. Mr. Bagley reported to the Chamber a few days ago that he had information that Wilmington could secure one of the government enterprises of this kind, provided proper effort is made. The committee will go to work at once.

Delightful Lawn Party.

The Willing Workers of Brooklyn Baptist church gave a delightful lawn party last evening at the home of Mrs. T. E. Lupo, No. 610 North Fifth street. Dainty refreshments were served and during the evening the large number of young people in attendance were highly entertained with the rendition of a musical programme. Miss Laura Van Patten contributed no little to the pleasure of the guests with several vocal selections for which the accompaniment was charmingly rendered by Mrs. N. J. Williams, Mrs. Jno. W. Blomme also delighted the audence with a number of instrumental selections. A neat sum was realized for the purpose for which the entertainment was given.

Let's Invite the Firemen.

If the proper interest is manifested by those who should manifest an interest in such things, the Wilmington delegates to Durham next week will make a strong pull to have the State Firemen's Convention and tournament come here next year. It is said that the great gathering of fire laddies and their friends can easily be secured for the city in 1904, but the delegates do not care to invite the Association unless the right kind of public sentiment is developed in favor of an invitation before the convention meets. The tournament would bring nearly a thousand people to the city for a week.

— Charlotte Observer: "Mr. Wade B. Leonard, formerly local manager of the Postal Telegraph & Cable Company, left last night for Rock Hill, S. C., where he will take a position in the office of Howell & Dodsworth, the cotton brokers."

THIS MAN WANTS A WIFE.

Letter from Norfolk With a Queer Request for a Better Half.

The mail which the postman brings daily to the Mayor's desk is burdened with various complaints, requests and communications of every nature, but a letter received yesterday, bearing a Norfolk post mark, eclipses anything that has yet come under the official eye of Mayor Springer. The epistle, written in a plain business-like hand, runs as follows:

NORFOLK, VA., Aug. 2nd.

DEAR SIR:—Please pardon the liberty I take in writing to you, but having heard of there being many marriageable ladies in your city, and as I am almost a stranger here, I take this means of trying to get a wife, and if you will kindly assist me by placing this in the hands of some one who would most likely bring it to the notice of some refined marriageable lady.

I am a young man, vigorous, of good, loving disposition, above medium height, regular features, and dark complexion. I have no means, but am confident of ability to make a congenial and devoted husband.

If you do not think I am intruding, will you kindly give this publicity enough that would place in such way as to meet the notice of some lady who wishes a husband.

I assure you of my sincere desire to get a wife at the earliest date. Believe me most truly, JOHN W. REED,
Gen. Del. P. O., Norfolk, Va.

MID-SUMMER REGATTA TO-DAY.

Will be Sailed Over Carolina Yacht Club Course—The Entries.

The mid-Summer regatta under the auspices of the Carolina Yacht Club will be sailed over the club course in Banks' channel, Wrightsville Beach, this afternoon, beginning at 5 o'clock and, if the breeze is propitous, an exciting event may be expected. All boats are required to report at the club pier not later than 4:30 P. M. The entries thus far are as follows:

Question—Capt. R. A. Parsley.
Sadie—Capt. S. P. Cowan.
Carolina—Capt. Burke Bridgers.
Yonalee—Capt. L. P. Davis.
Emma—Capt. C. W. Worth.
Kayembee—Capt. M. S. Willard.
Mabel—Capt. J. VanB. Metts.

Much interest is being manifested among admirers of the several yachts in the fleet and a large crowd will no doubt witness the race from the pier and other points of vantage.

COMPLAINTS ON OTHER MARKETS.

Wilson Tobacco Prices Far from Satisfactory—Condition Same Everywhere.

WILSON, N. C., Aug. 3.—The tobacco market opened here this morning with fairly good sales. Never in the history of the Wilson market has there been such dissatisfaction shown by tobacco growers on account of prices.

The buyers showed no desire for the tobacco offered, and 80 per cent of the offerings were bought by warehousemen. There was about 75,000 pounds sold at an average of 5½ cents. In many instances farmers took their tobacco off sale before it was even offered. There is at present no outlook for better prices.

DROWNED IN MOORE'S CREEK.

Young Pender Man Met an Untimely Death Near Currie, N. C.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

CURRIE, N. C., Aug. 3.—George L. Malpass, son of J. M. Malpass, who lives about a mile and a half from Currie, was drowned on last Saturday afternoon in Moore's creek. He was out hunting squirrels and succeeded in killing two or three, and on his return home he undertook to swim the creek with his gun strapped to his back, and having his clothes on he became exhausted and was drowned. The young man was about 16 years of age and was a good swimmer.

AUDIT AND FINANCE.

Many Important Municipal Matters Considered by Board at Meeting Yesterday.

CITY LIGHTING CONTRACT.

Award to C. R., L. & P. Co. Approved. Majority of Acts by Aldermen at Monday Night's Meeting Concurred in—Other Matters.

The Board of Audit and Finance was in concurrent humor yesterday afternoon and approved without hesitation a number of important acts by the Aldermen at their meeting the night previous. Included in the number of approvals was the award of the lighting contract to the C. R., L. & P. Co.; acceptance of the bid of C. H. Dock to operate the city rock quarry and furnish 30,000 tons of material for street improvement during the next two years; appropriations of $350 for a street sweeping machine; $500 for repairing machinery at the city rock quarry and $350 for putting the big roller at the rear of the City Hall in first-class condition, and the final adoption of the tax ordinances as agreed upon by the Board of Aldermen. The matter of the $800 appropriations for extension of the water main along Orange street to Eighth, and the $500 appropriation for providing conveniences for Summer excursionists were deferred for further investigation.

Present at the meeting were Chairman H. C. McQueen and Messrs. C. W. Yates and J. A. Orrell. There were also in attendance Mayor Springer, City Attorney Bellamy and Aldermen Tiencken, Behrends, Hashagen and Murrell. Official notice of the proceedings of the Board of Aldermen, so far as they concerned the Finance Board, was given in a communication from the City Clerk and Treasurer.

Mr. Murrell referred to the call upon the Public Building Committee to do something in the way of providing accommodation for Summer excursionists and said that heretofore the Board had refused to concur in the Aldermanic appropriation of $500 to provide a place for the visitors. The matter was again deferred and it is more than probable that nothing at all will be done this season.

Action of the Aldermen in ordering transfer of the tax books for 1902 to the City Attorney for collection under same conditions and contract as before, was approved.

As only three members of the Board were present, the vote of all three was recorded as voting in favor of the tax ordinance as previously agreed upon.

The bid of Mr. C. H. Dock in which he offers to operate the rock quarry for two years, furnishing 30,000 tons of material at stated intervals, at the quarry, for $1.30 per ton, paying a rental of $25 per month for the machinery, when put in order, and paying the six cents per ton royalty on the quarry, was approved after Mayor Springer had made a few explanatory remarks. Bond was fixed at $3,000 for faithful performance of the contract on the part of the contractor and the Mayor stated that he would have the instrument drawn and submitted to the Board at the earliest possible moment.

The lighting contract was taken up and the action of the Aldermen in making the award to the C. R., L. & P. Co., at the same figures as last year, was unanimously approved without discussion. Chairman Hashagen, of the Light Committee, was present and favored the idea of including in the contract the offer of the company to furnish free of charge the five lights to be installed along Front and Market streets and the company's offer to charge no installation fee where the distance is not unreasonable. The contract was awarded without including anything. The re-installation of six oil lights by the committee at $6.75 each was approved.

Petition of Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy for refund of $24.75 taxes, erroneously paid, was deferred for further information.

The appropriation of $350 for a street sweeper was approved without discussion. In regard to the $350 for repair of the road roller, Mayor Springer said that an experi's opinion was that the machinery only needed more steam power; that it had been partially ruined by being used as a stationary engine at the rock quarry; that similar rollers were in service in Raleigh and Goldsboro and the one here could be put to good use, if repaired. The appropriation with that of $500 for repairing the rock quarry machinery according to terms of the proposed contract with Mr. Dock, was approved unanimously.

Messrs. Behrends, Tiencken and Hashagen each spoke in advocacy of the $800 appropriation for the extension of the water main on Orange from sixth to eighth street. It was argued that property on that thoroughfare had recently been much increased in value for taxation; that while the pipe became the property of the water company upon the expiration of the lease eight years hence, the benefits in the meantime would warrant the expenditure, and property owners in that section had a right to expect adequate protection. After further discussion, all agreed it would be best to defer action for further information.

Mr. J. T. King, of the Atlantic Coast Line, was present and presented a small claim for demurrage on cars of material for street improvement, but by consent, action was deferred.

Request by Capt. Robert Green, city detective and chief quarantine officer, for more salary, was not acted upon for the present.

The remainder of the session was devoted to auditing bills for current expenses, none of which were of public interest.

EDUCATIONAL RALLY AT IVANHOE.

Basket Picnic, Lawn Party and Other Features To-morrow--Public Invited.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

IVANHOE, N. C., Aug. 4.—There will be a grand educational jubilee and rally here, including a basket picnic and lawn party, all for a commendable purpose, on Thursday of this week, Aug. 6th.

The occasion is to further develop the plans already on foot to establish a thoroughly substantial school of a high standard at Ivanhoe, there being no institution of the kind between Red Springs and Wilmington, and this location being central between Wilmington and Fayetteville with Black River intersecting the A. & Y. road here. The place is healthful and a moral community makes it an ideal location for such a school.

Wilmington Presbytery practically fathers this movement. Rev. Dr. Wells, of Wilmington, Rev. J. A. Smith, the Baptist pastor here, and other prominent educators will address the gathering. Wilmingtonians are cordially invited.

The committee in charge is composed of Rev. V. H. Starbuck, E. J. W. Anders and L. J. Merriman, the last named being secretary.

JAIL DELIVERY AT TARBORO.

Six Prisoners, Presumably Aided by Confederates, Escaped Monday Night.

[Special Star Telegram.]

TARBORO, N. C., Aug. 4.—Six prisoners, all colored, escaped jail here last night by means of a worn-out blade to a road machine and an axe, supposed to have been furnished by confederates. The cells were prized open and a hole was kicked in the outside wall. Bloodhounds were put on the trail early this morning but to no avail. One of the prisoners was held for assaulting an officer with a deadly weapon; one for housebreaking and the other four were charged with larceny.

Sheriff Harris has offered a reward of $20 each and also a large sum for the apprehension and conviction of the confederates.

A telephone message from Nashville this afternoon stated three of the escapes had been arrested. Two other prisoners incarcerated in the same cell were too large to squeeze through the opening.

SHOOTING AFFAIR IN ROBESON.

White Man Peppered Negroes—Much Unnecessary Excitement Aroused.

LUMBERTON, N. C., Aug. 4.—Sunday while Neill Freeman, who lives near Kingsdale, was at church four negroes hailed at his gate and acted in such a manner as to greatly alarm his daughter, who sent her little brother in haste for her father, the church being only a short distance away. Mr. Freeman came at once, got his gun and shot at the negroes, who had gone down the road a short distance. Mr. Freeman shot but once, but made a good shot and hit all four of the negroes. The shot were small and only served to teach the negroes a good lesson.

Early reports of the shooting were very much distorted and caused much excitement in Lumberton. Sheriff McLeod arranged for a special engine and car which came from Hamlet, stopped at Maxton, took Mayor J. C. Parish and Deputy Sheriff T. L. Smith, with their bloodhounds and brought them to Lumberton where they were met by the Carolina Northern train and carried at once to Kingsdale. Before the hounds were placed on the track, however, Freeman had Capt. McNeely to call the sheriff, and stated that to put the hounds on the track would cause serious trouble; that he knew who did the shooting and he would have him at trial Monday or at any date that might be fixed. This was not satisfactory, and Mr. Freeman being told that the man must be known, said: "I am the man." He was at once taken under arrest by the sheriff and placed under a justified bond of $500 for his appearance to-morrow for trial.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 5.

SURE CURE FOR A TERROR.

Washington Post: A correspondent for whom we have the utmost respect writes to us asking advice about his boy. As a general rule, we think that parents ought to manage their own children, whether the treatment calls for marshmallows or a sapling. It seldom pays to mix in with other people's domestic troubles. But this particular boy interests us. According to our correspondent's account, he is what they call in Texas a "Joe Darter." He is as amiable as a plate of clabber and as tough as a section of rhinoceros hide taken from the neck. He is full of fun and bounce, and his laugh can be heard a mile away to leeward, but he can break more furniture and lame more barnyard animals in one day than a nice, curly-headed boy with a clean collar can in twenty-seven years. His father does not know whether he is an angel or a fiend, a blast of ozone or a murrain.

The boy is about sixteen years old, with a bullet head, a big jaw, a hand like a canvas ham, thick lege, flat feet, foghorn voice, the muscle of a longshoreman, and a congenital inability to keep quiet. If he wants to go down stairs, he jumps down. If he wants to go up stairs, he tumbles up. He prefers to eat pie while he is vaulting fences, and if they make him sit at table for his food he growls over it all the time. He has most of the habits of a kangaroo, and when, after a long day of destructive activity among the neighbors, he comes home to supper, he seems to have been hurled in by a catapult. His father, as the result of painful cut conscientious observation, is convinced that he spends at least half his time in the air, and that even when he alights, it is to the detriment of the surface of the earth. And this is the boy concerning whose management and discipline we are appealed to for advice!

Inquiry elicits from the distracted parent the information that he has furnished the boy with a horse and a gun, but this expedient seems to have had only the effect of making things worse than ever. He rushes the horse over the hills, through thickets, and across the most yawning chasms, while with his gun, he shoots sparrows and cats, roosters and cows, scarecrows and haystacks, with impartial fury and delight. The horse's knees are now broken. Our correspondent has received notices of thirty different actions for damages. And still the boy is rampant, incorrigible, tempestuous and affectionate by turns, so that the old man does not know whether to caress him or to kill him and sits still pondering while ruin stares him in the face.

We haven't any fixed idea as to a remedy in this case. Naturally the expedient that first suggests itself is that of getting a good, stout fence rail and hammering the boy until his most important bones are broken. As soon as the fractures knit, the father might throw the boy into an eighty-foot well and fill it up with bricks. This has been known to cure a woman of the habit of platform lecturing, and it might be equally successful with the boy. If our correspondent be of an economical turn of mind, he could rent the boy to an Italian firm who would work him ten hours a day in a treadmill, grinding macaroni, or yoke him up with a mule and use the team for Fall and Winter plowing. But there is one treatment that never fails in cases of this kind, and perhaps that will be the best, because it is undoubtedly the surest. We suggest that the boy be sent out on the frontier—to Texas, Arizona, Nebraska, or Dakota—any State in that part of the world will do. Send him where there is no adoring family to stimulate his conceit, nor timid neighbors to tremble with apprehension; where people do not care what he does, provided he doesn't do it to them; where the first bad break he makes will let him in for a thumping, and where any foolish gun play will provoke the bystander into shooting at him.

We strongly recommend this prescription. We have seen some mighty fierce youths in our time, but never one who could not be tamed by the process we have indicated. Long and careful observation of the genus terror convinces us that nine-tenths of his noise and bounce and bluster is due to the fool people who admire and pretend to be afraid of him.

THE PROPOSED CURRENCY BILL.

Savannah News: It is said there is to be a conference soon of the Senators who have in charge the work of framing a new currency bill to be introduced into the Senate immediately after the meeting of Congress. As is well known, certain great interests are insisting upon currency legislation at the earliest possible moment, their position being that there isn't money enough to transact the legitimate business of the country. On the other hand, there are members of Congress, among them Mr. Cannon, who is to be the Speaker of the House, who think that the volume of currency is ample for all legitimate purposes, and in this view they are backed up by men who seem to understand the financial situation thoroughly.

There is, however, going to be a currency bill introduced into Congress and a determined effort made to pass it. The conference of the senatorial committee on the bill will take place on August 10th, at the home of Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island. It is stated that among other things the bill will provide for depositing the receipts from the customs in national banks, as well as the receipts from internal revenue. The internal revenue receipts now amount to about $500,000 a day, and those from the customs to more than $1,000,000 a day. Practically, therefore, all the money that the government receives will be at once turned back into circulation. Now it is complained that a vast amount of money—hundreds of millions of dollars—are locked up in the treasury and thus kept out of circulation. It is proposed also that the Secretary of the Treasury shall continue to receive State and municipal bonds as security for government deposits. No doubt there are those who would like to have a law authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to also accept railroad and industrial bonds. In that way it would be an easy matter to get rid of a quantity of "indigestible" securities which have been making Wall street sick, but Congress will never agree to anything of that sort. Indeed, some of the most influential members of Congress are opposed to the treasury accepting State and municipal bonds as security for government deposits. It is a fact, of course, that there are municipal bonds that are not first-class security.

The proposed bill will also provide for asset currency. The plan is now to permit banks to issue notes to an amount equal to one-half of their capital stock, and to put a 3 per cent. tax on this circulation. It will be a difficult matter to get Congress to agree upon a currency bill. Even the leading bankers of the country are not agreed in regard to asset currency. Therefore, however energetic the friends of currency legislation may be, it is doubtful if anything will be accomplished in that direction in the very near future.

CURRENT COMMENT

—There have been not only ruinous deals in the so-called undigested securities, but also extraordinary gambling ventures in well-established stocks. While the properties which the latter represent have been doing well, the paper has been kept dancing by the bulls and bears until there has ceased to be any rational relation between the business record and the Wall street figures.—Chicago Record-Herald.

—The days of Capt. Kidd and his pirate crew are cast in the shade in comparison with the days of the walking delegate in New York, where $50,000 has been extorted by a single delegate from a contractor in one hour. We pretend to be aghast at South American freebooters buying up a government for $100,000 under the threat of precipitating a revolution, but here, in our own greatest American city, wealthy builders have been held up in similar style and compelled to disgorge under threat of a strike or a boycott.—Boston Advertiser.

—It is not an unreasonable conclusion, after the experience of nearly a century and a quarter, that it would have been better if the Vice President had no actual duty with the legislative department. True, several of the States have followed the course of the makers of our national constitution and made their lieutenant governors presidents of the upper houses of their Legislatures, but we do not think that anywhere this course has resulted in great advantage, although commonly the presiding officers so designated have more influence than the Vice Presidents have had on the action of Congress.—Boston Herald.

THE TREATING HABIT.

It Costs Its Victims Many a Dollar and Many a Friend.

Is it not possible that men really spend in treating friends that they would hesitate to give away, no matter how deserving the charity? It is a trait of human character that comes through this all absorbing disposition to "hold your end up" when with a friend. Hundreds of men take thousands of drinks that they do not want, and other hundreds pay for thousands that are not desired.

Two men meet, and one says: "Mighty glad to see you. Let's have something." Neither generally needs or even wants a drink. But the man who offers it wants to show that he is generous. He takes this method of proving that he is glad to meet his friend. The friend after he has taken the drink that he did not want, to prove that he, too, is a good fellow, insists upon a second round.

The German custom of entering a saloon, taking a drink and paying for it and for no others it adopted in America would prove a blessing. The American custom of treating is decidedly a curse. What we do for friendship's sake costs us many a dollar and many a pang.—Springfield Union.

Confederate Flags.

In March, 1861, the Confederate congress adopted as the national emblem the "stars and bars." It was made up of three horizontal bars of red, white and red, with a blue union in the upper left hand corner, on which were displayed thirteen white stars in a circle, thus giving the historic red, white and blue, which tricolor appeared in all the succeeding changes.

The resemblance of this to the stars and stripes led to confusion, mistakes and loss of life at the battle of Manassas, and shortly after that time the other flag was born to the Confederacy, in September, 1861.

The battle flag was then adopted. This, in the language of heraldry, was a red field charged with a blue saltier, with a narrow border of white, on which were displayed thirteen white stars—in other words, a blue St. Andrew's cross on a red ground. This was easily distinguishable and was never changed.

An Air Tight Fit.

Mrs. Jennings and her city cousin were exchanging news of their old school friends. "How about Lucy Morse?" asked the cousin. "Has she kept on growing fatter and fatter?"

"Well, all I'll say is this," said Mrs. Jennings: "Annie Fall told me last year that when Lucy sent home from Nashua, where she was nursing her uncle, to have a silk waist made, Annie realized she hadn't got any measures, and then she remembered that the last time Lucy was there she stood up by the big air tight stove, and Annie remarked—to herself—the resemblance between 'em. And she took the measure of that air tight and cut in a mite for the waist line—'bout as much as a knife marks warm molasses candy—and made the waist accordingly, sent it on, and Lucy wrote back it was an elegant fit."—Youth's Companion.

Wall Street and Clothes.

The best dressed men in New York are the Wall streeters. There is one young member of the Stock Exchange who is famous for his clothes. He has a wardrobe in his private office, and changes his suit three times a day—at 10, at noon and at 3 o'clock. A busy session on the floor will wreck any suit. Most of the brokers wear an old office coat in the shuffle and turmoil, and there is scarcely an active member but has an extra pair of trousers to put on after the close of business. Scores of little tailors in the financial district make a good living pressing trousers at 50 cents a pair.

The Spectroscope.

Originally the spectroscope was applied only to chemistry and in that limited field proved itself an invaluable aid in accurate analysis. By holding in a bunsen flame a platinum wire moistened by contact with the skin, the presence of a few grains of salt (wall lowed a few minutes previously can be detected with the spectroscope. Indeed, so wonderfully refined is the work of the spectroscopic chemist that he can discover in a substance the presence of one three-millionth of a grain of metal.

His Artistic Sense.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "you shouldn't let your artistic sense worry you so much."

"What do you mean?"

"I overheard you talking to that friend with whom you play cards. I know how much you appreciate harmony in form and color, but it is wrong to be so much annoyed because one heart got in with a few spades."—Washington Star.

A Deep Thought.

"In a brown study, eh?"

"Yes, I was just thinking."

"Thinking what?"

"I was just wondering why a fellow never has as much trouble borrowing trouble as the trouble he has borrowed other things."

ALL WRONG.

The Mistake Is Made by Many Wilmington Citizens.

Don't mistake the cause of backache.

To be cured you must know the cause.

It is wrong to imagine relief is cure.

Backache is kidney ache.

You must cure the kidneys.

A Wilmington resident tells you how this can be done.

R. F. Rowan, clerk with L. W. Davis' Clothing House, residing on Castle street between Sixth and Seventh, says: "I strained myself lifting a heavy box, and suffered great pain across my back for a long time. I used plasters and liniments but they did me no good. I could hardly stand up straight, my back was so weak. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in our newspapers I went to Bellamy's drug store and got a box. I felt better the next day and continued using them according to directions and my back regained its old strength. I was simply surprised at the result. I will gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills every time for backache."

FIRST PICTURE BOOK.

The Daring Idea First Conceived by Johann Comenius.

Three hundred years ago a German savant had a wonderful vision. At that time children were taught to read by force of arms, so to speak, through hardships and with bitter toil on the part of teacher and of child. It seems curious that the first real step toward lightening the labor of children as they climb the ladder of learning was the product of the imagination not of some fond mother or gentlewoman teacher, but of a bewigged and bettled university doctor.

It was Johann Comenius, however, who first conceived the daring idea that children could be taught by the aid of the memory and the imagination working together, "by means," as he quaintly expressed it, "of sensuous impressions conveyed to the eye, so that visual objects may be made the medium of expressing moral lessons to the young mind and of impressing those lessons upon the memory." In other words, the good Herr Doctor had the bright idea that picture books could be useful to children. Comenius made his first picture book and called it the "Orbis Pictus." It contains rude woodcuts representing objects in the natural world, as trees and animals, with little lessons about the pictures. It is a quaint volume and one that would cause the average modern child not a little astonishment were it placed before him.

As truly, however, as that term may be applied to any other book that has since been written, the "Orbis Pictus" was an epoch making book. It is the precursor of all children's picture books, and modern childhood has great cause to bless the name of Comenius.—Household.

Spurzheim and the Students.

Spurzheim, the father of modern phrenology, while staying in Edinburgh, where he had a great vogue, was the victim of a laughable hoax. A number of medical students submitted for the opinion of the phrenologist the plaster cast of what they said was a remarkably formed human skull. As a matter of fact it was the model of a big Swedish turnip (called in the Scottish tongue "nelp"), and of this Spurzheim gravely wrote out the phrenological character. A few days later the following skit appeared in the leading journal of the city:

The tide of fame to Spurzheim's name
Rolled o'er the German deep;
The tide was spring; but, fickle thing,
It now has ebb'd to "nelp."

Why the Editor Skipped.

An editor of a small American paper recently stated that he had been kissed by one of the most beautiful married women in the town. He promised to tell her name in the first issue of his paper next month. In two weeks the circulation of his newspaper doubled. But when he gave the name of his wife he had to leave town.—Fourth Estate.

Not Worth the Trouble.

"You write your first name very well indeed, Miss Pinkie," criticised the writing teacher, "but you make a sad botch of the Johnson part of it."

"What is the difference, Mr. Spencer?" asked the pretty girl. "I expect to change the Johnson part of it some day."—Chicago Tribune.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The cotton market opened quiet at an advance of three to ten points on covering, following the higher ruling of Liverpool cables, and apprehensions of the continued presence of the bull leaders on the floor indicated a bullish demonstration later in the session. After the opening, however, there were very few supporting orders in the market and with generally favorable weather reported, prices soon developed a sagging tendency that was increased around midday by the publication of the weekly weather report of the Weather Bureau which indicated that the crop on the average showed further improvement. Trading was very quiet, however, and after prices had reached a level about even with last night's closing on all except the August option which was not five points lower, having sold down from 12.00, the opening figure, to 11.85, the market was rallied by bull support and covering. In the last hour a good demand developed for the new crop months, led it was claimed by the former New England bull leader, and shorts becoming alarmed the market turned very firm and more active than at any time previously during the session. The close was very steady at practically the best of the day on all except August, which closed net unchanged at 11 90 The balance of the list showed net gains of from eight to twelve points. Sales were estimated at about 75,000 bales. Business during the entire sessession seemed to be almost entirely of a professional character.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (TEETHING POWDERS)

Costs Only 25 cents at Druggists, Or mail 25 cents to C. J. MOFFETT, M. D., ST. LOUIS, MO.

Cures Cholera-Infantum, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, and the Bowel Troubles of Children of Any Age. Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels, Strengthens the Child and Makes TEETHING EASY.

I have found Dr. Moffett's TEETHINA a splendid remedy and aid for my teething children. When my eldest boy was a teething child, every succeeding day warned us that we would inevitably lose him. I happened upon TEETHINA, and began at once administering it to him, and his improvement was marked in 24 hours, and from that day on he recuperated. I have constantly kept it and used it since with my children, and have taken great pleasure in sounding its praises to all mothers of young children. I found it invaluable even after the teething period was passed.

OFFICE OF D. H. HARDY, Secretary of State, AUSTIN, TEX., Nov. 21, 1900. MRS. D. H. HARDY.

ONE ARMED MAN'S SKILL.

How He Managed to Button His Cuff to His Shirt Sleeve.

"When and how did you lose your left arm?"

"Five years ago. I was working in a factory and got my arm caught in some belting."

"Has your right arm become more serviceable since you lost its mate?"

"Oh, yes. I can do almost anything with my one arm. I used to have a great deal of trouble in dressing myself, but it comes easy now. I can tie my shoes, put on a four-in-hand tie, put collar buttons in a new shirt; in fact, do everything required just as well as I could when I had two hands."

"It certainly is wonderful what one can do if he only has to."

"Yes; it is. There's only one thing, however, that I really pride myself on being able to do with my one hand, and that is to fasten my cuff. How do you suppose I do this?"

"I hadn't thought of this. For the life of me I don't see how you do it. Do you fasten your cuff with your teeth?"

"No." And the one armed fellow smiled.

"Have you some contrivance of your own that you use?"

"No."

"Well, I don't see how you do it. It's beyond me."

"Why, I put the cuff on the shirt before putting on the shirt."

And he smiled more broadly than ever.—Indianapolis News.

FREEZING CAVERNS.

Subterranean Caves That Are Lined With Crystalline Ice.

There are deep cavities and tunneled recesses in the earth far away from sunlight and held in the tight embrace of rocky strata where secret hoards of glittering ice find habitation all the year round. Yet down in these queer places the ice is as pure and crystalline as any that nature maintains in the open air; moreover, it occurs on a truly grand and massive scale.

Imagine thick underground ice walls and floors and craftily fissured columns beautiful in shape and color streaming from roof to floor of lofty rock chambers! And under the slow drip, drip, drip of percolating water this same ice learns to fashion itself into cave adornments—frozen water drops, curling slopes, stalactites and stalagmites of fantastic shape and rainbow hues.

Subterranean cold waves, or "glaciers," as they are frequently called, crop up in some 300 scattered localities in Europe, Asia and America, but all, with rare exceptions, whether true ice caverns or grottoes and deep hollows, are confined to the north temperate regions of these continents—that is, to places where there is a sufficiently low temperature at some portion of the year to reach freezing point and render snowfall possible.—Pearson's Magazine.

A QUESTION OF BATHS.

How an Army Officer Evened Up Matters With an Auditor.

"Auditors and comptrollers are the natural enemies of mankind," remarked an army officer, "but more particularly are they the enemies of an army officer. They take great delight in finding reasons why they should not pass an officer's accounts and take advantage of the least little technicality or any possible way of refusing to do so. Some time ago an officer to get a just claim that had been turned down by the auditor or comptroller was compelled to go to congress, and the printing bill for the account was four times as large as the amount in the first instance."

General Weston got the best of an auditor when he was in the Seventh cavalry, and this is the way he tells the story:

"I was on a horse board at Kansas City, and before a horse could be accepted he was sent a mile at a very fast clip to test his endurance. I observed that the men who were selling the horses had a rider who would take them behind a clump of trees where I could not see and shortened the distance. I decided to ride the horses myself, and I tried about twenty a day. I would get pretty well warmed up with that kind of work, and I went in afterward and took a bath. I charged up the bath each day in my expenses. But the account came back from the auditor with the indorsement:

"'One bath a day is a luxury and not a necessity. One bath a week is enough.'

"And I indorsed right under that, 'It may be enough for an auditor, but not for a cavalryman.'"—Washington Post.

The First Diamond at Kimberley.

It was not until the autumn of 1870 that the first diamond was found on the present site of Kimberley. There was a shallow, circular depression, known as Dutoitspan, on the edge of which a farmer named Van Wyk lived in a cabin plastered with mud. This hut had no architectural pretensions, but, in its way, it went beyond the luxury of Fifth avenue, for the mud with which it was daubed was sprinkled with diamonds. One day Van Wyk's children prospected the plastering of their home and extracted several gems. The farmer and his friends began digging at the spot from which the mud had been taken, and found more diamonds.

Miners swarmed in, and a new camp, called Dorstfontein, sprang up. In June of the next year the Kimberley mine proper—one of the four great deposits that form the present Kimberley group—yielded its first diamond.—Cosmopolitan.

When Reptiles Inhabited the Earth.

At different epochs during the time known as the secondary period the surface of the earth seems to have been so predominantly peopled with reptile life that it has been called "the age of reptiles." The huge iguanodons stalked or leaped about in the wealds of Sussex and Hampshire. Of these iguanodons marvelously complete skeletons are to be seen (mounted in attitudes of life) in the Royal museum of Brussels—a sight in itself sufficient to induce a visit to that capital. Other smaller reptiles browsed on the foliage of the then existing plains and were pursued and preyed upon by fell reptilian monsters of various kinds. The sea also swarmed with reptiles (ichthyosauri) as aquatic as the whales and dolphins of our own day. And not only were the earth and seas thus peopled, but there were flying reptiles of different kinds and sizes, known as pterodactyls.

Blunderbuss.

In using the word "blunderbuss" we unconsciously imply a sense of disparagement for the shooting powers of our forefathers contracted with the precision of the modern rifle. The word itself has, however, a terrible enough meaning and disdains all connection with "blunder." "Blunderbuss," in fact, as we have it, is a strange corruption—perhaps not altogether untinged with the sense and sound of "blunder"—of the old Dutch word "donderbuss," which can be literally translated into the English "thunder box" or "thunder barrel."

WHEN THE SEAL DINES.

Jugglery That Would Put the Human Performer to Shame.

The keeper who was going to feed the seal had reached the edge of the tank and was holding the fish tantalizingly at arm's length over the water. The seal was all interest and attention. Round and round the tank he darted, flipflapping, sidewheeling, leaping out of the water and performing all sorts of aquatic stunts, all the while keeping up his guttural yelpings. There was no question about his appetite. He was hungry and didn't much care who knew it, and his beady little eyes were all intent on the keeper's every move.

"Why don't yer t'row him a feesh?" demanded a boy spectator, growing impatient at the keeper's leisurely actions.

"All right, my boy; here goes!" And, suiting the action to the word, up into the air went one of the fishes, dropping toward the center of the oval.

The seal at the time was at the extreme end of the tank, considerably beneath the surface, but even there he must have been on the alert, for hardly had the fish left the keeper's hand when swish! a lightninglike somersault, a shadowy streak through the tank, and quicker even than thought the seal's gaping, whiskered jaws and a length of his ecly looking neck were protruding from the water immediately under the tidbit, which disappeared into his willing maw to the accompaniment of an intensely appreciative smack.

It was all so quick and well calculated that the auditors stood amazed.

Without even the suspicion of a miss the performance was repeated as rapidly as the keeper could toss the fish. But the fun, fast and furious while it lasted, is soon over with, and the seal, after he had his fill, immediately lost all interest in his surroundings and waddled out on to his platform and curled up for an afternoon snooze.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Disgrace to His Race.

"Will I go r-round an' shake hands with th' prizefighter?" he repeated. "Niver! He's an Irishman an' a disgra-ace to his native land; no liss."

"How is that?"

"He won't fight ixcipt f'r money."—Chicago Post.

There is no beverage more healthful than the right kind of beer. Barley malt and hops—a food and a tonic. Only 3½ per cent of alcohol—just enough to aid digestion.

But get the right beer, for some beer is not healthful. Schlitz is the pure beer, the clean beer, the filtered and sterilized beer. No bacilli in it—nothing but health.

And Schlitz is the aged beer that never causes biliousness.

SMUGGLING CIGARS ALLEGED.

Judson Brinson, at Savannah, Under Bond of $10,000 to Appear at Next Term of the U. S. Court.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAVANNAH, GA., Aug. 4.—Judson Brinson, alleged to be at the head, or prominenty connected with a conspiracy to defraud the government of revenues by means of smuggling cigars from Cuba, has been held under bond of $10,000 to appear before the next term of the United States court. Brinson denies the charge of smuggling, asserting that he and others bought the cigars in question in this country and re-sold them. He has furnished the assistant United States District Attorney with a list of names of some thirty-four persons who bought the cigars. On both lists are the names of prominent persons. On the first are employes of the railroads leading to Port Tampa, express messengers, revenue and customs officers, depot agents, and one or two women. Some of these are officials holding important positions. In the second list are merchants, brokers, professional men and leading citizens of Savannah who are alleged to have bought the cigars. It is further alleged that cigars were shipped by the "combine" to Charleston and Philadelphia. A number of those who bought the cigars in this city have settled up with the district attorney by paying him the amount of duty that would have been collected had the goods been imported in the regular way. One man is said to have paid $400 and one merchant $1,200. More than one million cigars are supposed to have been brought in by the "combine."

WEATHER BUREAU'S REPORT.

Improvement in Cotton Continues—It is Fruiting Well—General Condition of the Tobacco Crop is Promising.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 4.—The Weather Bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions says:

The improvement in cotton continues generally throughout the cotton belt. It is fruiting well, although too rank growth in portions of the central and western districts and shedding on sandy lands in the Carolinas are reported. Rains have been detrimental in the central and southwestern portions of the cotton area in Texas, but have been beneficial in the northern portion, while boll weevil appear to be more destructive in a few of the southwestern counties. Clear, warm weather is needed in Louisiana and Texas. The crop continues late.

Tobacco is needing rain in portions of the Ohio Valley and Virginia, but the general condition of the crop is promising. Topping is finished in Tennessee and North Carolina, and is in progress in Virginia and Maryland. In the Middle Atlantic States tobacco is later than usual.

GUISEPPE SARTO ELECTED POPE.

Now Reigns at the Vatican and Over the Catholic World as Pius X.

CHOSEN ON THE 11TH BALLOT.

Date of the Coronation Expected to be August 9th—Now Pontiff Associated With No Faction—A Handsome Man—Aged 68 Years.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

ROME, Aug. 4.—The conclave, after being in session four days, to-day elected Guiseppe Sarto, patriarch of Venice, as Pope to succeed Leo XIII and he now reigns at the Vatican and over the Catholic world as Pius X. To-night all Rome is illuminated in his honor.

His election and the assumption of his holy office were marked by a striking and impressive ceremony at the Vatican, which only ended this evening. To-morrow the new Pope, clad in his full pontifical robes and with all the ritualistic ceremony will receive the members of the diplomatic corps, the cardinals and the bishops, who will then offer their official homage; this notwithstanding the fact that twice to-day the cardinals and many high officials of the Vatican went through a similar ceremony.

The date on which the coronation of Pius X will occur has not yet been officially decided, but the impression prevails that it will occur August 9th. Although the election was over at 11 o'clock this morning and was announced to the world forty-five minutes later by the appearance of the new Pope at the window of St. Peter's, the conclave was not dissolved until 5:30 this afternoon. The cardinals then returned to their various apartments in Rome, with the exception of Cardinals Rampolla and Oreglia, who temporarily retain their official suites in the Vatican, and Cardinal Herrero y Espinosa, who is too ill to be moved for several days. It was to the sick cardinal that the new Pope paid his first visit after being formally proclaimed Pontiff.

The cardinals will remain in Rome for to-morrow's ceremonies and should the coronation be fixed for next Sunday they are not likely to return to their respectives homes until after that ceremony. With the exception of the Spanish cardinal, Herrero, all the others are now in fairly good health.

The election of the Patriarch of Venice this morning was unanimous. After Monday's ballots it was a foregone conclusion that he was the only candidate sufficiently acceptable to all to secure the necessary two-thirds, which the laws of the Church require. One of the cardinals said to the representative of the Associated Press to-night that he believed Pius X would follow the broad lines of Leo's policy, although not likely to accentuate it. This voices the general feeling here, which is one of satisfaction.

The new Pontiff is a man of simple origin and although not a very prominent candidate, he had been frequently mentioned as one of the many cardinals who might be taken up as a compromise. In several respects he resembles his venerable predecessor, notably in his reputation for culture and piety. Having been associated with no factions this fact alone won him much favor from foreign cardinals, who were without an especial candidate. Pius X was humorously described as "a country mouse who could not possibly find his way about Rome." Venetians who know the new Pope well say that he will soon be as much beloved as Pontiff as he was yesterday as the beloved patriarch of the poor of the Adriatic. In appearance, Pius X is a very handsome man. He has a fine, erect figure despite his 68 years, his face greatly resembling that of the late Phillips Brooks, the eminent Boston divine.

When he pronounced his first benediction to day at St. Peter's his voice rang out with splendid resonance. In every way to-day he showed beyond a doubt that he has a dignity and personality in keeping with the best traditions, associated with the famous pontiffs who for centuries have ruled the Vatican.

The Election Proclaimed.

The election of Pius X., once it was consummated, was proclaimed in a loud voice by the cardinals' scrutineers to the Sacred College. Monsignor Merry Del Val, secretary of the conclave, and Prince Chigi, marshal of the conclave, were notified through a bell by Cardinal Oreglia. They entered the Sistine Chapel amid visible excitement, the eager faces of the conclavists and prelates being seen crowding about the door.

It is impossible to describe the confusion in the chapel. The friends and supporters of the new Pope gathered around him, complimenting and congratulating him, crying "Viva," and even clapping their hands without ceremony. They appeared to be unable to contain their joy. These few moments of oblivion gave Sarto's opponents time to recover their balance and conceal their chagrin, although the majority even among them declared themselves to be satisfied with the result, and only a few sour faces were seen.

Pius X was only 23 years old when he was consecrated a priest at Castelfranco, the birthplace of the Great Master Giorgione afterwards, for nine years as coadjutor to the parish priest of Tombolo, province of Padua, a small village of 2,950 people who were the first to appreciate his virtues. His kindness was untiring. He sought to fill their wants and never a murmur was heard when he was called in the middle of a Winter night to a death bed which proved to be nothing of the kind. He gave freely of his very small means, until he often went without meals himself, but he kept many a poor family from starving.

In 1867 he was appointed priest parish at Salseano, which was considered an important promotion, being a village of 3,341 souls. Still, he was exceedingly sorry to leave Tombolo, having become attached to the people. The peasants when he left made a most enthusiastic demonstration, crying "Viva, don Guiseppe" while many women whose children he had nursed wept. He distinguished himself so much at Salseano that he was only kept there two years, which is remarkable in the career of an Italian parish priest. In 1875 he was elected chancellor of the bishopric of Treviso, then spiritual director of that seminary, judge of the ecclesiastical tribunal and finally vicar general.

Pope Leo, who had highly appreciated his cleverness, appointed him in November, 1884, at the age of 49 years, Bishop of Mantua, where he remained nine years, until 1893, when he was made a cardinal and appointed Patriarch of Venice. He there distinguished himself as a thorough reformer, suppressing all abuses. To him is due the revival of a Gregorian chant in the beautiful churches overlooking the lagoons and to him is due the strict return of liturgic rules.

Sarto became the idol of the Venetians. When his gondola went through the canals the people rushed on the bridges and along the sides of the canals, kneeling and saluting, the women exclaiming "God bless the patriarch."

In a few cases in which he came to Rome, on returning, asked if he enjoyed the gorgeousness of the papal court and the magnificence of functions, Sarto answered: "When I am there I feel like a fish out of water."

He has very modest tastes, having retained almost the same habits as when he was a mere curate at Salseano He was severe, but was just with his clergy. There is nothing he dislikes so much as publicity, detesting the praise and compliments of courtiers Frankness is another of his personal qualities, although he is somewhat timid.

The relations of Sarto with the house of Savoy are well illustrated by what occurred two months ago, when the king of Italy went to Venice to open the international art exhibition. King Victor Emmanual gave orders that the patriarch be given precedence over all local authorities, but Sarto having arrived while the king was speaking to the prefect, who is the highest government official in the province, he refused to be announced and said he would not disturb his majesty. He remained in an ante-chamber after conversing with the generals and admirals gathered there. When the king learned of his presence he came to receive him on the threshold of the chamber and kept him in conversation, accompanying him afterwards in a gondola, while all the soldiers and guards rendered Sarto military honors. Naturally this does not mean that Sarto, once Pope, will fundamentally change the policy that the church has adopted towards the Italian state, but certainly his personal feeling will be favorable to moderation.

Advices from Riese, the birthplace of Pius X and a village of 4,000 inhabitants, states that the Pope's mother, now dead, when living there occupied a small peasant's house, having in her humility always refused to live with her son Guiseppe, as even his modest establishment was considered by her to be too luxurious in comparison with what she was accustomed to. The elder brother of the Pope, Angelo, lives in the village of Delliegrazie, province of Mantua, being postman of the district, and receiving eighty dollars a year for his duties. He adds to his income by keeping a shop in which he sells tobacco and pork. His two daughters are the belles of the village, being known for miles around as the "handsome Sarto sisters."

When Pius X was bishop of Mantua, his brother Angelo used often to go there for reasons connected with his postal service. The other clerks would ask him jokingly why his brother did not find him a better position. Angelo, with sturdy independence, answered that he preferred only to be what he could make himself. Still, following papal precedents, the tobacconist and postman of Delliegrazie should become a royal count.

Among the conclavists and prelates the expression of opinion was much freer and two so lost control of their tempers that they had to be separated by the scandalized onlookers. There was great irritation on one side and a correspondingly great exultation on the other.

"Sarto!" "Sarto!" ran from mouth to mouth, penetrating to the furthermost part of the Vatican precincts. After the election, even when the excitement began to calm down, none seemed quite to know what to do, it being to all, except Cardinal Oreglia, a new ceremonial. Even he had only seen it twenty-five years ago.

Cardinal Oreglia, as dean of the cardinal bishops, called Cardinals Netto and Macchi, deans respectively of the cardinal-priests and cardinal-deacons. They approached the new Pontiff, saying in Latin, distinctly, but in a shaking voice: "Do you accept your election according to the canonical law as supreme Pontiff?"

The moment was one of extreme tension of feeling. There was a perceptible pause before Pius X found and controlled his voice. Then he answered simply: "Yes."

The cardinals thereupon removed their baldachins, so that that of Sarto was the only one remaining, thus marking him as their supreme head. The passing supremacy of the cardinals was gone and was now concentrated in one person.

While Prince Chigi, the master of the conclave, was drawing up the official act of the election and acceptance of the newly elected Pope, the latter, surrounded by his friends, disappeared into a small room near the altar, where he donned, with who can say what feelings of triumph and humility, the white robes of his office. Pius X was assisted by his conclavist, who first knelt and kissed his master's hand, and thus received the first apostolic blessing given by Pius X.

Attired all in White.

The new Pope was attired all in white with the exception of red shoes. When he was robed, the secretary of the conclave, Monsignor Merry Del Val, kneeling, offered him the papal white cap, amidst breathless silence. With a slight smile, Sarto took the white cap, placed it calmly on his head, and dropped the red one lightly on the head of Monsignor Merry Del Val, amidst a murmur of approval. This is taken as a certain indication that the happy recipient is soon to be raised to the cardinalate.

As the new Pontiff stepped from behind the altar, the only touch of color about him being his red and gold shoes, he really seemed the embodiment of his holy office. His face was pale and softened by emotion. He paused a moment, as he came before the expectant cardinals, then seated himself on the throne, with a hurried movement, as though he had suddenly grown weak. His back was to the altar and he was enthroned to receive the so-called "first obedience" of the cardinals. They came forward, one by one, some calm and smiling, others sober and non-committal, while still others found considerable difficulty, even at this hour, in concealing their too obvious disappointment.

All kissed his hand and foot, while he saluted each on the cheek with the kiss of peace. Then all broke into the te deum with such effect that scarcely an eye was dry.

The Papal Blessing.

Pius X then rose and in a voice first tremulous, but gradually becoming full and firm, administered the papal blessing to all of the members of the Sacred College. It was received with bowed and uncovered heads.

The Fisherman's ring not yet having been found, a new one was placed on the Pontiff's finger as a symbol of renewed power and evidence that the Catholic Church has once more a sovereign head.

In the meanwhile masons and carpenters had been busy breaking down doors so that the cardinal-deacons, together with the master of ceremonies and the conclavists and many others might proceed to the balcony of St. Peter's. When the windows on the balcony slowly opened and the great gleaming cross was seen by the populace below, the excitement and impatience heightened to the extreme. Cardinal Macchi then proclaimed the new Pope, and the bells of St. Peter's boomed out, as did those of all the churches of Rome, giving the glad news to the world.

As Cardinal Macchi returned to the Sistine Chapel after having performed his pious duty, the new Pope rose and an effort to make some kind of a procession was made, but Pius X was literally carried in triumph to his cell, followed by a great conclave and preceded by the cross.

When he arrived at the door of his cell, the Pope turned and raising his hands, gave in a voice almost suffocated with emotion, his benediction to the assembly, which received it on bended knees.

After a short rest, imposed by the fatigue and emotion of his election, Pius X joined his court in the Ducal Hall for the solemn benediction which he was about to give to the people of Rome.

ADMIRAL COTTON'S SHIPS.

The Squadron Will Come to the Caribbean Sea to Participate in the Winter Manœuvres.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 4.—Acting Secretary of the Navy Darling to-day had the following cablegram sent to Rear Admiral Cotton at Lisbon:

"Squadron sails Saturday for some quiet port in Mediterranean, where conditions are best to increase efficiency of guns' crews preparatory to target practice in September."

In the late Fall the European squadron will come across the Atlantic and proceed to the Caribbean, where, with the North and South Atlantic squadrons, it will participate in the Winter manœuvers.

It developed to-day that as a result of the successful visits paid by the European squadron to Kiel, Portsmouth and Lisbon, the officials are inclined to accept from year to year invitations to visit foreign waters. In this connection the interesting fact has come to light that the Russian government probably will invite the European squadron to visit Kronstadt some time next Summer.

CONTROL RAW LEAF MARKET.

Agreement Between the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Co. and the Continental and American Combine.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Aug. 4.—Negotiations are in progress between the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company, controlling all save one of the local warehouses, and the Continental and American combines, whereby it is expected the two combines will concentrate their buying operations at Louisville and Cincinnati warehouses. A committee representing the warehouse company recently had a conference with officers of the American and Continental Companies looking to an agreement in the matter.

Such an agreement would not only end buying from growers on the part of the two combines, but would put a stop to costly competition between the Louisville and Cincinnati warehouses. These arrangements would put the Louisville and Cincinnati warehouse people in control of the raw leaf market.

THE JETT-WHITE TRIAL.

Testimony That Jett Was Not in Court House Until After the Shooting.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CYNTHIANA, KY., Aug. 4.—In the case of the commonwealth against Curtis Jett and Thomas White, on trial here for the assassination of J. B. Marcum, Dr. J. M. Kash, of Jackson, testified to attending the dying Marcum as he lay in front of the court house. He testified that a few minutes before the killing of Marcum he saw Curtis Jett in front of Hargis Brothers' store, immediately across the street from the court house, talking to Asbury Spicer, and "Lish" Noble. He contradicted the testimony of at least fifteen witnesses, who testified for the prosecution to seeing Jett go into the side door of the court house immediately before the shooting. Various other witnesses testified that Jett was not in the court house until after the shooting.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Lowest Prices of the Year for a Number of Prominent Stocks.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The stock market developed acute weakness again to-day, and after continued liquidation throughout the session closed active and weak at about the lowest for the day. This presented also the lowest of the year for a number of prominent stocks and near the lowest for a much larger number. Union Pacific, Atchison, Erie, Texas and Pacific, Wabash preferred, Consolidated Gas, Republic Steel preferred and the Virginia-Carolina Chemical stocks were amongst those which sold to-day lower than before this year. United States Steel sold at 21, which is the lowest price on record. There was an insignificant rally in the final hour of the market, but the selling was renewed at the last.

TENNESSEE WHITE CAPPERS.

Killed One Negro and Fatally Wounded another at Lewisburg.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LEWISBURG, TENN., August 4.—One negro was killed and another fatally wounded by a band of white cappers last night. There were between fifteen and thirty in the mob, which made its appearance at the home of a negro preacher named John Milliken. Milliken made his exit through a back door. He was brought down by a volley, dying almost instantly.

John Hunter, a son-in-law of Millikes, was made to accompany the mob in a fruitless search for another negro, and in an attempt to escape was fatally shot in the back. The wife of Milliken was struck over the head with a gun and painfully injured. No cause is assigned for the killing.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

Robt. D. Cawthorn Convicted of Having Poisoned R. D. Tucker, Eastman, Ga.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

EASTMAN, GA., August 4.—Robert D. Cawthorn was to-day found guilty of murder in the first degree on the charge of having poisoned R. D. Tucker some weeks ago. Tucker was a prosperous farmer and Cawthorn a farm hand on the place. The evidence went to show that Cawthorn and Mrs. Tucker became infatuated with each other; that Tucker became suspicious, and that Cawthorn administered poison to Tucker in a drink of brandy for the purpose of getting rid of him, so that he might marry Mrs. Tucker. Tucker had taken Cawthorn into his house and befriended him in a number of ways. There was also evidence to the effect that a second person, of the name of Horn, had died from the effect of poison in brandy intended to be drunk by Tucker.

GIBBON'S OPINION OF NEW PONTIFF.

America's Cardinal Speaks in Terms of Praise of Pope Pius the Tenth.

PRODUCED BEST IMPRESSION.

Much Speculation Regarding the Political Attitude of the New Pope—Friendly Relations With the King and Royal Family.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

ROME, Aug. 4.—Cardinal Gibbons, speaking to a representative of the Associated Press, said that the election of Cardinal Sarto had produced the best impression in the entire Sacred College; being a man of such piety, tact and culture that he was best fitted to be head of the church at the present time. Cardinal Gibbons hopes that the coronation of Pius X will take place soon in order that the foreign cardinals may be able to assist. Others think that the coronation may be postponed for three months to a more propitious time.

There is much speculation regarding the political attitude of the new Pope, inasmuch as he has not participated in the general affairs of the church during his career. The general opinion, however, is that he will make no change in the relations between the Vatican and the Quirinal, except perhaps to render them more courteous, as he enjoys personal acquaintance with the King and members of the royal family. Queen Margherita considers him almost a friend.

One of his first steps will certainly be to ameliorate the relations of the Vatican and France and try to prevent a similar struggle against the congregations of Spain. He is not credited with being particularly favorable to Austria as he still remembers how much his fatherland suffered under the domination of that country.

Congratulations From America.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 4.—The following cablegram in Latin was sent to Cardinal Gotti, Propaganda, Rome, to-day by the American Federation of Catholic Societies, after announcement was made of the election of Cardinal Sarto as Pope:

"The American Federation of Catholic Societies assembled in annual convention extends to the newly elected Pontiff its cordial wishes with the assurance of filial love and obedience, begging at the same time for the apostolic blessing."

Signed President Minahan, Bishop Kelley, of Savannah, Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, Bishop Messmer, of Green Bay, Wis.

President Roosevelt's letter of congratulation and well wishes was answered to-day by telegraph as follows:

"The American Federation of Catholic Societies in convention assembled desires to extend to His Excellency, the President, its sincere thanks for his kindly expression of interest in and approval of its work, and to assure his Excellency that the Catholic Church, now and always, stands for obedience to authority, divine and human and the sanctity of the home."

A resolution was adopted praying to the Almighty to restore the Pontiff to an absolute and full independence of any civil government.

Another resolution condemned socialism and called upon all societies to aid in suppressing the evil. It also endorsed the endeavors of working men to better their material condition and prosperity by the formation of trade's unions.

The laxity of laws relating to divorce was condemned in a resolution. Catholics are called upon to endeavor to exact laws that would uphold the sacred marriage vows, making it difficult to obtain separation through the courts.

THREATENED LYNCHING.

Mobs After a Negro in Jail at Kenton, Ohio, Charged With Murdering a White Man.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KENTON, OHIO, Aug. 4.—William Nichols, colored, accused of the murder of Alpha Minard, near McGuffey, and for whom search has been going on for several days, is locked up in the jail here. He was arrested at Carmel by Sheriff Griffith, of Hardin county. When the train which was bringing the prisoner to this city reached Belle Center, a crowd of about two hundred residents of the neighborhood where Minard had lived were gathered at the depot. Nichols was observed in the car and immediately cries of "shoot him!" and "hang him!" were set up by the crowd. Fearing mob violence the train quickly pulled out.

Another crowd awaited the train on its arrival here and many angry threats were made, but the sheriff got his prisoner to the jail without trouble.

Nichols denies his guilt, but during the few hours he has been locked up has made many conflicting statements.

YOUNG GIRL MURDERED.

Murderer in Jail and Will Probably be Lynched by Citizens.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LEWISTON, IDAHO, Aug. 4.—Wm. S. Hamilton, aged 24 years, confessed this morning to the murder of Mabel Richards, an 11-year-old girl, whose body was found near Amatone yesterday afternoon. The child was waylaid by the brute Hamilton, while en route to Sunday school. Hamilton is in jail at Asotin. In all probability he will be lynched, as hundreds of people are now reported to be assembling in the town. The dead girl was a daughter of Sheriff Richards, of Asotin county. Hamilton is a farmer, who has resided in the county a number of years.

THE GOEBEL MURDER.

Third Trial of Ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

GEORGETOWN, KY., Aug. 4.—In the third trial of ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers, under indictment for alleged complicity in the Goebel murder, the defence to-day offered affidavits for a continuance, supported by a a plea in abatement to go behind the records of the Legislature that unseated Taylor as governor, and it was upon this authority that the Court of Appeals held the advance pardon of Powers by Taylor to be effective. The plea held that by going back of legislative records that defence could show the pardon to be good. Judge Robbins refused to admit the plea.

The Reporter and the Doctor.

The following conversation between a doctor and a newspaper man was overheard the other day:

"I've met some newspaper men," said the doctor, "and I don't like their ways. They're always trying to pry into other people's business."

"Well," responded the reporter. "There's but one difference between newspaper men and doctors that I can see."

"And what's that?" asked the doctor.

"You fellows dissect bodies and we dissect brains. For my part I like the brain end of it."

Then the doctor sat down and thought for several minutes.

Dividing the Honors.

A North Carolina congressman relates an amusing story of an old justice of the peace in his county. It seems that two young attorneys were trying a case before him. After the arguments had followed the testimony of the witnesses and the case was closed the old fellow, awakening from deep reveries into which he had fallen, said, addressing one of the lawyers: "You know, Hank, I gave you the decision in the last two cases, so I will give this one to Tom. You can't expect to get them all."
